	It consists of five independent European funding partners, located in Ireland, Spain, France, Italy and Britain. These support ACTIONAID organisations in more than 30 countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America. The European groups such as ACTIONAID Ireland, which was established in 1983, act as partners to local ACTIONAID groups, not as visiting firemen bringing assistance from one culture to another. They facilitate the local organisation, sending consultants where needed and providing funding - but the local organisation is in control. ACTIONAID Ireland is a major partner to ACTIONAID Kenya, and its other operational partners in the east African region include ACTIONAID Ethiopia, ACTIONAID Rwanda, and ACTIONAID Uganda.

What they fund:	DRC, Rwanda, Uganda. Most of the FCA programs are integrated community development projects, which are designed to improve leadership and management skills in the community: subsistence farming ; providing water resources ; improving both formal and non-formal education ; improving community health ; developing employment through skills training and with loan funds to encourage income generation.
Interests/Themes:	Rural development programs, assistance to refugees, reconstruction, emergency aid, AIDS programs. The focus of FinnChurchAid in these areas was the improvement of water supply, food security and the protection of the environment. The reconstruction program became a development program in the year 2001, primarily aiming to improve the people's income, food security and the development of micro enterprises. FinnChurchAid supported the people's cooperation with local NGOs and administration. In this way, positive experiences strengthened the reaching of joint objectives over tribal lines. In addition, local interfaith groups were supported that were intended to build bridges between the ethnic groups separated by genocide.
Special info:	In the programs, Finnchurchaid applies the following principles: local responsibility; assistance to relieve the most acute needs; assistance to the poorest ; concern for women's rights ; concern for the protection of the environment ; promotion of justice, peace and human rights ; equal partnership, mutual confidence between partners ; shift from acute emergency relief to preventive action and reconstruction.
